EXERCISE 1

Read the following article aloud. 次の記事を声に出して読みましょう。

Bruno I'm here today to tell you about our most advanced product:
the Phisher Mobility charger.
This device is crucial for people who work on the road,
as I know 70% of your sales force currently do.
What separates our product from the competition is weight.
The charger weighs just 110 grams.

On my handout you can see the specifications on page four.

This charger can connect to all of the most important portable devices that your agents carry with them on sales calls. And our device maintains its charge for up to six months and will provide most smartphones with up to two full charges.

This device is not only convenient, it's also a good investment.

Research has shown that remote workers waste up to 40 minutes per week waiting for devices to charge. Multiply that by the number of remote workers you have,

and that's a significant cost.
